

USED BOOK SALE at the GATHERING !!!

ATTENTION: BOOK JUNKIES

WE HAVE YOUR DRUG OF CHOICE!

The Research Library of the Appalachian Trail Museum has hundreds of excess books on hand, and we'd like to find good homes for them. (And also make a few bucks to buy new books we need.) "eArThworm," the Librarian, will be bringing some of the best of the used books to the Gathering for a BOOK SALE!!! Those hiking memoirs and other trail books you've been longing to read will be available for a pittance.

Where to find us:

We'll be located at the Hiker Fair (along with other A.T. Museum folks) and we'll be selling all these wonderful books CHEAP! We're talking mostly $1.00 each! Added bonus: we'll give you a free bag for you to tote your purchases in.

Just a few of the many great titles that will be for sale:

Larry Luxenberg's "Walking the Appalachian Trail," Lynn Setzer's "A Season on the Appalachian Trail," David Brill's "As Far as the Eye Can See," Bill Bryson's "A Walk in the Woods," Ed Garvey's "Appalachian Hiker" and "Appalachian Hiker II," Zach Davis' "Appalachian Trials," Winton Porter's "Just Passin' Thru," National Geographic's "Mountain Adventure," and Earl Shaffer's "Walking with Spring." A.T. Data Books? We got 'em! Trail-building manuals? Yes! There'll be something for everyone!

Are you looking for a particular title, or titles?:

If we have them, I may be able to find and reserve them just for you! Email me before Tuesday, October 5th and let me know the titles. If we have those books, I'll bring them to the Gathering just for you.

Please stop by to chat!
